

CANCER

Those born under the sign of Cancer, ruled by the mysterious Moon, are one of the zodiac's enigmas. It is fair to say that most Cancers are a bundle of contradictions. Compassionate and caring with friends, family and lovers, yet they can cut to the bone with their jealous remarks and ever-changing moods. Endearingly eccentric on one hand, and on the other, insecure about how others see them. Like their astrological symbol - the Crab - Cancers can appear hard and insensitive on the outside. However, for those of us who know and love a "Moon Child", we understand that deep below lies a softness and sensitivity that makes them so very special...

Just as the Moon goes through many changes as it moves from its new to full phases, Cancers too go through many new and full phases of experience. Life doesn't stand still for this sign, even if they remain in one place, because they live so much in their internal oceans of emotions. Their link with the Moon often makes it impossible for them to operate on an even keel from day to day. Up and down like the proverbial yo-yo, most Cancerians feel one way one minute, then sometimes totally different the next. But this characteristic is part of their charm.

High astrological affinity:

Cancer-Taurus, Cancer-Virgo, Cancer-Scorpio, Cancer-Pisces

Good compatibility:

Cancer-Cancer, Cancer-Capricorn

Fairly compatible:

Cancer-Gemini, Cancer-Leo, Cancer-Sagittarius, Cancer-Aquarius

Low compatibility:

Cancer-Aries, Cancer-Libra

Cancer and Taurus. A highly promising combination: you both have certain common tendencies and preferences, and you are good for each other.

Taurus is stabile (as an Earth sign), sensual and very faithful: your luck, you jealous Cancer! Taurus has the same need you have for a stabile home, emotional and financial security. Quite often, when you struggle in an ocean of contradictory and confused feelings, a Taurus will calm you down and bring you to a lake with still water.

Both Cancer and Taurus are acquainted to finances: you are very lucky, according to tradition, and Taurus knows what to invest in. In addition, neither of you is very wasteful so there won't be problems of this kind in this relationship.

Your tendency towards a home to take care of and towards finding your happiness or refuge in it goes very well with Taurus' basic desire of having such a home. One warning: don't forget to explain to your Taurus the way you understand feeling and emotions so that you don't get hurt. Taurus could do it without realizing it, because after all, Taurus is a sign that is very straightforward about what (s)he thinks and, although (s)he is tactful, anyone could find it difficult to understand why a moody Cancer got upset!

Sexually, you get along well: Taurus is very sensitive and sensual. Fortunately, most Taurus natives have a seductive voice (Taurus governs, among others, the voice and the throat). Why fortunately? Because we all know how much you like listening to words of love, told beautifully and artfully. A Taurus will spoil your fantasy!

Your common passion for external interests will make you spend much time together. Moreover, Taurus is fascinated by the sensitiveness of Cancer's perception and I can imagine him/her drinking in your words. Taurus is as jealous and possessive as you are, so marriage will be a relief to both of you, not to fear anything from the outside anymore. Indeed, this is one of the happiest combinations: you can start making long-term plans, there is nothing to stand in your way.

Therefore, does a Cancer-Taurus relationship work? Yes, it does. According to the stars, you can already buy the wedding rings.

Cancer and Virgo? Passion and intellect? This is a relationship that could be very beautiful. On paper, at least.

Virgo communicates very well, as it is governed by Mercury that symbolizes Hermes, the God with wings at his ankles, the courier of ancient Gods. Virgo is even-minded and has a special refinement in analyzing details, so (s)he will bring you back to Earth (this is his/her element) and at the same time, (s)he will bring some stability in your emotional life.

Virgo is rather shy and astrologers like saying that (s)he is also a little boring. This is false, though. Virgo likes surprising you with torrents of passion.

Virgo is sometimes a bit too practical and reasonable. But this is good for you. Virgo is also extremely patient (the name of the sun sign comes from Virgin Mary, born on the 8th of September), (s)he likes having a peaceful and beautiful home, so you are in for a very comfortable marriage if you manage to understand each other.

Attention, though: Virgo is highly critical! Whether you like it or not, (s)he'll be looking for the smallest flaws in anything, simply because of his/her passion for details. Remember that your Virgo only does it because (s)he is a perfectionist, not because (s)he has a problem with you.

Virgo's criticism might become a little problem for you two because Cancer is sensitive and capricious. As you are both rather stubborn, it would help if you came to an understanding of the "I'll give up today, you'll do it tomorrow" kind.

Virgo is hardworking and committed, therefore another pro argument for a possible marriage. Virgo also proves a high morality, coming from the symbolical association with Virgin Mary. That means (s)he will be faithful, stay at home, like what you like - in other words, you really don't have reasons to be jealous this time.

Your Virgo is not very ostentatious: (s)he loves, but (s)he doesn't feel the need to say it all the time. You should already know that (s)he loves you, why bother or spend on trifles just to say once again what (s)he has said before? Therefore, you'll feel like being at anchor into reality, but this anchor has a very, very long chain... and sometimes you doubt that it is still there anymore.

Sexually, the Cancer-Virgo combination is a warm, beautiful one, although it won't be like Heaven, with a reserved Virgin and a shy Crab. But each hug will be given out of feeling, not reflexively.

Very, very nice, and it is worth changing yourself a little for a Virgin: you'll receive so much in exchange!

Cancer and Scorpio? Lunatic Water and waterfall in the middle of the world? Yes, that's what you've been looking for such a long time and if you reached this page, you have probably found it: Scorpio is one of the best combinations for a Cancer.

Why is that? Because you are both Water signs? That, too. But, besides that, because any Cancer (consciously or not) looks for domination and leading spirit in the other one. Because Scorpio is as jealous as you are, maybe even more jealous. Because Scorpio is extremely passionate and understands the torrent of feelings in your soul better than anyone.

Scorpio has everything necessary to open the Cancer's shell. The excessive energy (s)he emanates, especially sexually and financially, is a good invigorator for your reserve. You are both sentimental, emotional, you let yourselves be carried away and it is often said that you can't stay together for long. But, with your sympathizing capacity, with the characteristic generosity and the gentleness that any Cancer possesses, you'll succeed in discovering a fascinating universe: a Water that not only understands you, but is also willing to go your way.

Of course, Scorpio will want to be in charge and (s)he also has his/her moods. But, since you are guided by intuition, you'll be able to calm him/her down. You should negotiate sometimes and don't forget to give in a little: this time it is really worth it. Why? Because Scorpio will fall in love with you ten times more than you'll fall in love with him/her, and (s)he is one in a thousand (or a hundred thousands?).

Some warnings: Scorpio often has a very fragile ego. (S)He can go over many things, but (s)he never forgets! Scorpio is avengeful, so be careful: a Scorpio that felt betrayed won't sit around weeping! The problem is that Scorpio is fragile, vulnerable and very sensitive on the inside, although (s)he seems tough on the outside. You have to pay attention to where the limit is: where Scorpio starts being him/herself. But I'm not worried... with your intuition. One more thing: think ten times before saying anything, and I mean ANYTHING. Because if you think you have a good memory, wait until you see Scorpio's!

Your Scorpio wants the same things you want: peace, the joy of a home, commitment. Scorpio is very possessive so, finally, someone will make sure you know how much (s)he loves you, because, just like you, (s)he thinks jealousy and possessiveness are proofs of love.

Sexually, your sensitiveness and Scorpio's passion should take you to ecstasy. Scorpio's intuition is almost as strong as yours, and from the sexual point of view, (s)he doesn't miss any signals, being an excellent lover.

The Cancer-Scorpio combination is, therefore, a relationship you can expect very much of, because you are both on the same wavelength, for better and for worse. A love story that can turn into a very beautiful marriage.

Cancer and Pisces? Yes! It works, and it works very well. Feelings are highly considered by both natives, both Cancer and Pisces live in a world where heart rules, so that you'll understand each other almost intuitively.

Pisces likes being taken care of, spoiled, taught and so on. You like doing that. So, you complete each other perfectly. You'll find in this native understanding and even total approval of your feelings, because Pisces understands much more than it is told and can read both gestures and hearts (it's the sign most inclined towards abnormal and paranormal activities). As Pisces him/herself is a native with strong feelings, (s)he'll understand and stabilize yours.

Money is not a motivation for a Pisces, (s)he works either for glory, art, eternity, immortality, either for the sake of his/her fellows, of the world, universe, and for other such reasons, more or less weird. Pisces is capable of making money, but (s)he doesn't like it, and, no matter how hard you try, you won't convince him/her that such a prosaic thing is worth the effort. Pisces simply doesn't care about money in this world: (s)he needs very little to be satisfied, because (s)he doesn't live in the real world too much, anyway.

To sum it up, whether you are the woman or the man in this relationship, you'll have to take the financial responsibility because you know best that love is not enough to make a living and you can save money. Not to mention the traditional luck Cancer people are in concerning money.

If it's not money, then what is your Pisces good at? At understanding and sympathizing with others. From this point of view, not only will you benefit from his/her gift, but all the people around him/her. It's true that things can get a little out of control in this regard because many Pisces take the concept of "self-sacrifice" too far and, although nobody believes him/her, a Pisces means it when (s)he says (s)he slept with the boy/girl at the grocery because "(s)he loved me and I felt sorry for him/her".

Sex can be a unique experience for such a sensitive native as yourself and subtle (often extravagant) as Pisces. As sensitive and romantic as you, dear Cancer, Pisces considers sex to be an art, an almost mystical experience, so weird, romantic and sentimental ideas at the same time are his/her specialty: candles, rituals, things like these.

The Cancer-Pisces combination is an almost magical relationship in which each of you will feel you have found your soul mate. But don't forget: don't suffocate your Pisces with too much reality (in other words, don't take him/her out, to parties or among many people too often), his/her nature can't handle it. Let him/her be when (s)he says (s)he has to meditate (although (s)he just seems to be staring at the walls) or when (s)he wants some privacy. Since your Pisces takes on much of the others' grief, (s)he needs to recharge his/her batteries more often in his/her dream world. And don't give him/her too much money: (s)he buys simply because (s)he feels sorry for the shop-assistant!

Cancer and Cancer: two joined passions. This is indeed a combination you can write a novel about!

Two hopeless romantics can have one of the strongest and most beautiful relationships on this Earth. They create an entire world of feelings and passions. In addition, you have big chances to be happily married because you both have an almost intuitive way of understanding each other. You both have the necessary patience, tenacity, as well as spiritual capacity to make this relationship beautiful.

You need intense feelings, loud-spoken affection, warmth and attention from your partner - and not only at the beginning of the relationship. Well, your Crab understands all this and (s)he'll be there for you to offer you everything you need. Home and family are very important to both of you: you should get along perfectly, even without words.

Considering that you are both under the "government" of the Moon (the governor of your sign), the Cancer next to you will probably be in a bad mood every time you will be in one. This doesn't sound good, but fortunately, the Moon moves quickly and bad moods, weird states of mind etc. will pass as soon as they appeared. It wouldn't hurt if you learned the phases of the Moon by heart, if you don't know them yet: it affects you in the most possible direct way.

Now, after I told you how wonderful it would be for you two, here's a warning: the male Cancer and the female Cancer are two very different creatures, though: he'll always feel lost in the multitude of feelings that invade his soul while she will be herself in this unbound ocean. He struggles to stay at the surface, to grasp and analyze his feelings, while she gracefully manages strong, contradictory feelings.

Why am I telling you all this? Because it helps if you know where you stand in a relationship with such high emotional levels in which you are both too sensitive and vulnerable for this world.

Sexually, you are both very emotional, you can almost start a major earthquake in such a combination. Water signs, such as yourselves, can almost intuitively understand what his/her partner is thinking, and when there are TWO such signs in the same bed, words are no longer necessary.

Therefore, a Cancer-Cancer combination is a beautiful relationship, with big chances of becoming a long-lasting marriage, on the condition that you leave jealousy and high sensitivity aside when you come back home.

Cancer and Capricorn? Interesting combination... but also dangerous: Capricorn is Cancer's opposite sign in the zodiac, 180 degrees away.

Theoretically, you should match. But there is an "opposition" between your signs. Therefore, I'm going to tell you the strong and the weak points and let you decide. There are equal chances to succeed, as well as to fail.

You have much in common: Capricorn always feels misunderstood, and your main quality is to offer understanding and protection to the others. You both know how to follow your goals, which could lead to a lasting relationship if each of you finds the power to adjust to the other's wishes.

The Goat can make your dreams come true, because Capricorn is an Earth sign, and a very hardworking one. Water and Earth usually get along very well, but, of the three Earth signs (Taurus, Virgo and Capricorn), you are in opposition with this one: this is where the troubles could come from, because you are also very determined, meaning that neither of you gives up too easily. It would be better if you gave up in the end, because otherwise your Capricorn will isolate him/herself even more under his/her protective shell.

Neither of you is too extrovert: you'll have to work hard to get to his/her inner ego, to make him/her open up. But it is worth it: Capricorn has a great sense of humor and is very devoted, (s)he is capable of understanding you and among the few that will always try to do it.

Capricorn has the power to settle your sentimental life, but attention: (s)he can't offer as much love as an insecure Cancer needs, so, if you could refrain from being jealous and highly sentimental, everything would be perfect.

Your Capricorn is a very ambitious and career oriented native, so, if you can provide a happy home for him/her, where (s)he can unwind, you'll have a great advantage.

Therefore, a Cancer-Capricorn combination would make for a rather unstable relationship and a risky marriage. But it is worth trying, at least on the account that everything forbidden tastes differently. If you stay together for a year, it means you can do it.

Cancer and Gemini? You'd better not, stars say...

A domestic Cancer, and a Gemini who can't live without a phone, without paying visits to friends and relatives. It's hard to make a union of this kind work! What you, dear Cancer, are looking for - peace, safety and a comfortable home - is exactly what scares a Gemini, consciously or not: to him/her, change and the place where it happens are the most important things it is worth living for! Not to mention Cancer's traditional moods, which Gemini can't stand...

Moreover, Gemini moves around so much and is so active, that (s)he doesn't have much time to spend at home, and this is exactly the place you enjoy the most.

However, understanding as you are, you might tolerate his/her crazy attitude for a while, especially because your Gemini can be very mature sometimes, due to his/her dual nature (there are two people in this sign and almost always the native has a double personality). Anyway, at one point, you'll come to the conclusion that you want to be closer to Earth than this Air sign.

Gemini lives the present so intensely that (s)he is capable of telling you with the greatest nonchalance that ten seconds equal a lifetime in his/her temporal system. In conclusion, (s)he won't understand your intentions or feelings. Not because Gemini is insensitive, but because his/her way of perceiving feelings differs from yours very much.

They say Gemini is often superficial, which is rather true, because Gemini wants everything, and it's kind of difficult to have it all. However, if you are patient and persistent, you can make a Gemini understand your feelings and convince him/her to go down to your sophisticated emotional depths in which you live your love.

If you manage to keep your high sensitiveness down (for how long, though?), if you can be as detached as a Gemini, then you have big chances for the relationship to last. But remember that you use your soul and love to understand while Gemini uses his/her reason, logic and intellect (this sunsign is governed by Mercury, the planet of rational thinking). Anyway, you can't get hold of your Gemini, let alone catch him/her for good...

Oh, yes, let me clear everything up for you, dear Cancer: your desire for financial security, your tendency to put aside, your moderation... next to a Gemini, you'll always feel it's not enough, no matter how hard you try. (S)He's often a very wasteful native - and I know how much that terrifies you.

What should you do to make this Cancer-Gemini relationship work? Forget "mine", forget possessiveness, put aside moods and stop being so sentimental. But don't forget the only relationship that is worth keeping for the rest of your life is the one in which you can be yourself anytime.

Cancer and Leo? Forget it. That means NO.

Sometimes things work between you two, sometimes they don't. However, one way or another, good moments tend to turn into bad moments eventually.

But there are also good sides and, if you, dear Cancer, are willing to sacrifice much of your personality in order to be with the shining Leo (governed by the Sun), maybe you'll even keep the relationship going for a while. The Moon reflects the light of the Sun, so if you want and know how to reflect Leo's remarkable personality, his/her great heart will forget about your permanent moods.

If you let your Fire Lion dominate the relationship, be in charge, and if you praise him/her properly and often enough, you have big chances, especially if you control your jealousy and emotional outbursts - because Leo doesn't get it when it comes to such strong and loose feelings. The question is: how long will it take until you get tired? Or until you want to become yourself again?

Leo is passionate, fervent and has a very keen artistic (especially theatrical) sense. You, dear Cancer, are a very emotional and creative creature. Leo wants to be adored and (s)he only wishes for one thing in life: to be in the centre of attention, always in the spotlight, always admired and worshiped. Most of the times, (s)he's really worth it, because Leo is a very active sign (meaning that (s)he neither spends too much time at home, where you like being).

All in all, as long as your universe moves around your Leo, everything will be all right. That shouldn't be too difficult for you, because any Crab understands the world almost intuitively: you'll probably do it without him/her asking you to. But afterwards, Leo will demand everything from you: to keep doing that for the rest of your life, minute after minute, always as intensely as in the beginning. And any solar system has other things to do besides moving around the Sun all the time. In other words, maybe there are other things you want to do with your life...

Sooner or later, no matter how "possible" this relationship seems to be, Leo will still find a reason to get upset and (s)he'll still feel betrayed somehow. And that's exactly the moment when you'll fly off the handle and let it all out by telling your Leo how much you did for him/her and how (s)he took it for granted... It's true that Leo is able to balance your moods and has the capacity to make you feel safe, capacity that many Crabs don't have.

For a Cancer-Leo relationship to hold out, it depends on how flexible you both are.

Cancer and Sagittarius. Full stop. Meaning: don't even think about it! Not only because Sagittarius is a very wandering Fire, but it is also the sign which brings most single people (the sign of philosophers), and your sensitive, emotional and intuitive personality cannot hold him/her still.

Whatever you do, you won't manage to make a Sagittarius more of a family man/woman. Sagittarius always seems on the verge of leaving again to discover something that will keep him/her away from that "home" that you love so much. Moreover, Sagittarius is the sign of flirtation par excellence, and with your born jealousy... I don't think you two belong next to each other.

Indeed, Sagittarius is shining, lively, fascinating. Fire attracts Water, of course. But neither of them can resist too much near the other without being exhausted: Fire is put out, and Water evaporates.

Yes, indeed, Sagittarius likes talking, theorizing, (s)he's very good at it, and (s)he asks him/herself the most difficult questions. Sagittarius is meant to ask the questions the world needs, just as Aquarius is meant to answer them and Cancer to offer protection. Sagittarius is essentially intellectual, which means that the feelings that guide you either don't exist for him/her, or are so filtered by the intellect that you wonder if they are still feelings!

When you tell your Sagittarius that (s)he has hurt or offended you or (s)he has been too tough, too straightforward on you, the only answer will be: "Oh, no, not AGAIN!". From his/her point of view, these sentimental things are too sloppy: let's get serious, the world needs ideas to keep going! And any true Cancer will say that the world needs love to keep going... You are not even from the same planet.

The sexual aspect will reveal you, maybe more than anything else, how different Cancer and Sagittarius are. Sagittarius makes love as if (s)he practised some sport: athletics, entertainment and that's it. And you expected feelings, emotions, spiritual love, twin souls caught in the fire of passion! No, Sagittarius doesn't know anything about them. (S)He lives on a different level of reality.

If any of you is willing to change dramatically, to become so flexible so as to lose his/her personality for the sake of this relationship, things could start working. But you'll never feel understood, loved or appreciated by a person for whom "home" is just a place where (s)he goes to bed.

Cancer and Sagittarius are so different that I'm sure your contradictory desires will start taking their toll on the relationship very soon... Don't say you haven't been warned, dear Cancer: you'll suffer very much next to a Sagittarius, no matter how great your combined astrological aspects might be. You are simply too different.

Cancer and Aquarius? You are so different that only with a great effort (especially from you, dear Cancer!) you'll make the relationship work. Aquarius is an Air sign, and you are a Water sign: two elements that don't stay together too much and they never mix.

Aquarius is a sort of "science man" of the zodiac: (s)he is inclined towards research and technology, and (s)he is guided by reason in everything (s)he does: love itself is rational to an Aquarius. And as you are guided first of all by intuition and feelings, your reactions can be very different in similar situations. As a Water sign, you have a certain instinct in relating to people, an instinct that Aquarius doesn't have and doesn't understand. It's not something that can be felt, seen, smelled, analyzed.

Aquarius can seem (and often is) a little distant, cold and... (s)he doesn't seem to get involved as much as you do or as you would like him/her to. You were probably very attracted to his/her mysterious look, but you will soon discover that it isn't just a way to seduce: this is how Aquarius is, mysterious. And no matter how hard you try to understand what happens in his/her soul, you'll always have the impression that there is an invisible barrier, beyond which you cannot pass.

This Air native loves adventure too much to stay at home: Aquarius hears the song of sea maids more often and (s)he follows it. And "home" is the place you enjoy the most. Aquarius is very independent, and this will hurt you, because it will increase your feeling of insecurity (that is characteristic of many Crabs) and your jealousy.

Aquarius' eccentricity and the moods of the Moon that governs Cancer will collide quite often and it wouldn't surprise me if you were the one saying: "that's it, I can't take it anymore!" Aquarius simply can't understand your mysterious soul, full of emotions and guided by intuition: (s)he can't see anything that is beautiful about you, because his/her eyes can't see the mysteries of the Water.

Sexually, you will probably get along just fine, at the beginning at least. It's hard not to feel excellent with this imaginative Aquarius. But, even so, after a while you'll feel that (s)he's not there with you, although (s)he is near you. It's like (s)he is in some place else at the same time: Aquarius doesn't get involved enough.

Think twice before starting this relationship, dear Cancer: the physical attraction is important but for a long-term relationship you need many other things in common. You'll surely tell yourself that you can change and adapt, that Aquarius is worth all this, because (s)he has such a refined spirit that charmed you, such a mysterious look, etc. But remember that the only relationship in which it is worth staying more than a week is the one allowing you to be yourself every day. Otherwise, it simply isn't worth the effort.

Cancer and Aries? Water and Fire, two opposite poles. I don't know where you found your Aries, but it will be very difficult (if not impossible) to stand the zodiac's child. Theoretically, by all the rules of art, I should say "don't even think about it". Why? Let's take them in turns.

It was probably love at first sight because Cancer has the tendency to be protective, and Aries certainly needs compassion, understanding and much, much love. You'll soon discover, though, that Aries likes seeing and doing things very clearly and exactly. The depths you can see, the shades and delicacy of details, especially as regards sentimental life, don't really go with Aries' style.

Not only will you have to appeal to all the understanding and devotion you are capable of (and maybe even more...), but you will also have to put up with many things that don't go with your nature: direct, precise criticism (that Aries is very good at), a straightforward attitude that can easily hurt you. The sensitiveness of a Cancer needs truths told more gently than an Aries is capable of. Yes, that's right, Aries is not very tactful.

Aries reacts, takes action and decides quickly. Your reactions and actions are more prudent. If you manage to influence your Aries in this regard, it will be all right, but you'll need much patience and commitment.

You want stability, while Aries looks for new worlds to discover: I can hardly imagine where you two met, that's how different your interests are! To an Aries, love always has to be passionate, like in the beginning, otherwise (s)he'll start looking for another partner.

Sex is very "hot" with an Aries, especially at the beginning, but I don't think you'll be very satisfied with it either, because Aries will find it very difficult and often impossible to reach your sentimental depth and discover your complicated views on love.

The problem is your Aries doesn't have the patience: even if (s)he tries, sooner or later (s)he will get bored and try to speed up, to live to a rhythm that is tiresome and exhausting to you. Aries is all Fire, but no warmth though.

Aries doesn't even notice the things that hurt you; what is a secret to you, to him/her, it's a truth that has to be told. If you manage to keep the flame burning for a year, it will last, that's the kind of relationship it is. But a year... has 365 days. And nights! And that is not a very attractive number to a hasty Aries...

Think long and hard before moving on, dear Cancer, because your high sensitiveness could make you suffer without realizing how or when it happened.

Cancer and Libra? Fortunately, this Air is balanced and understanding, otherwise it would have been “no”, three times “no”. Anyway, it’s not a combination to make you happy. But it is worth trying. After all, Libra is so charming.

What would be your problem, dear Cancer? The fact that you are an insecure native par excellence and also often scared, unlike Libra, who’s an apparently distant, free, independent native and spends more time socializing than (s)he spends at home? You don’t seem to be the kind...

It’s true that, beyond the physical appearance, I can understand why somebody would fall in love with a Libra: refined, irresistibly sophisticated in thinking, mannered, elegant and educated, Libra is expected to arouse a sensitive Cancer’s feelings, who’s so attracted to beauty.

The problem is Libra will be around friends and away from home too often and the reserved and quiet Cancer will suffer silently. When Libra suggests having a party, you’ll only think about the practical issues such as the dirty dishes afterwards, the cost and so on. In addition, Libra is often too optimistic and (s)he throws him/herself into ambiguous projects, and your worries about savings will make you frown more often than you’d like to.

Libra likes talking problems through, and your tendency of keeping your feelings to yourself, the arguments and everything that bothers you might become annoying, because people don’t usually see hidden things, therefore they don’t pay attention. So, if your Libra does anything to upset you, TELL him/her, there is no point in hiding under the shell and crying. Tell him/her, because Libra is very sensitive and (s)he will understand. Maybe not as much as you would like to, but (s)he will try: any Libra wants to reach equilibrium in life and your Libra is willing to make sacrifices for it.

And since we’re talking about equilibrium... besides the fact that your (sometimes exaggerated) jealousy will be fully stirred near a Libra that can’t stand still, if you add to it outbursts, sentimental reproach, tears and other such “spices”, you can be sure Libra will soon leave. There is nothing a Libra hates more than scandals and fights. Diplomat by nature, Libra will do everything in his/her power to avoid something like that, and when the inevitable happens, (s)he gets really scared. That means that Libra runs away.

Normally, astrology would recommend not trying a Cancer-Libra combination: there are 90 degrees between your signs in the zodiac, and that means you can’t understand one another, let alone WITH one another! Chemistry, yes. Short relationship - anytime. Marriage - no. No matter how happy a Libra can make you, (s)he’ll never reach the depth of your soul. And after a while, it will start to hurt.

Quotes from Famous Cancers:

“We do not need more knowledge, we need more character.”

-- Calvin Coolidge (Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, and Mars in Cancer)

“I love people. I love my family, my children . . . but inside myself is a place where I live all alone and that’s where you renew your springs that never dry up.”

-- Pearl S. Buck (Sun, Mercury, and Venus in Cancer)

“There is only one happiness in life: to love and be loved.”

-- George Sand (Sun in Cancer)

“That man is richest whose pleasures are cheapest.”

-- Henry David Thoreau (Sun, Mercury in Cancer)

Some Famous people with Sun in Cancer: Pamela Anderson, Kevin Bacon, Beck (Sun, Mercury, and Mars in Cancer), Mel Brooks, George Bush Jr., Bill Cosby, Tom Cruise, Willem Dafoe (Sun, Mercury, and Venus in Cancer), Vin Diesel (Sun and Mercury in Cancer), Harrison Ford (Sun, Moon, and Mercury in Cancer), Woody Guthrie (Sun and Moon in Cancer), Jessica Hahn, Tom Hanks, Anjelica Huston (Sun and Mars in Cancer), Ann Landers, Juliette Lewis (Sun, Mercury, and Venus in Cancer), Richard Lewis, Anne Morrow Lindbergh (Sun, Moon, Mercury, and Mars in Cancer), Lindsay Lohan, Courtney Love (Sun and Moon in Cancer), Tobey Maguire, Princess Diana, Carlos Santana, Fred Savage (Sun, Mercury, and Venus in Cancer), Jimmy Smits, Sylvester Stallone, Patrick Stewart, Donald Sutherland (Sun, Mercury, and Mars in Cancer), Montel Williams, Robin Williams (Sun and Moon in Cancer)