

SAGITARIUS

Ruled by the benefic planet Jupiter, Sagittarians possess a natural exuberance, sense of adventure and love of life that makes them one of the most optimistic zodiac signs of all. Like their astrological symbol - the Archer - Sagittarians are renowned for aiming their sights towards whatever it is they find alluring - a love partner, dream job, vacation - and making it their own. They believe that anything is possible - and because of this belief system, Sagittarians are adept at seeking out their very own pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

But sometimes trying to tie down these free-spirited individuals is frustrating for those around them. Sagittarians are happiest on the move - exploring new cultures and ideas and many are attracted to occupations related to travel, the media, outdoor work and philosophical pursuits. In love, their catch-cry is “don’t fence me in”. But once they find a partner who understands their need to retain their own sense of self and identity, Sagittarians can be the most big-hearted, generous and fun-loving companions of all.

Freedom loving, optimistic and honest, Sagittarians are ruled by Jupiter, the planet of abundance and higher learning. The wisdom of Jupiter imbues Sagittarians with an inherent need to develop their own unique philosophy of life. The Centaur is their astrological symbol, and it gives many insights into the Sagittarian personality. The higher-evolved Sagittarian learns to integrate the two ends of the Centaur (half-human, half-beast) in order for their arrow (another Sagittarian symbol) of higher aspirations to be more on the mark. Although they are intellectually and spiritually advanced, Sagittarians are notorious for their lack of tact. In relationships they demand independence, but when in love, it can’t be denied that they are one of the most big-hearted signs of the zodiac.

Low compatibility:

Sagittarius-Virgo, Sagittarius-Pisces

Sagittarius and Aries? Fire and Fire? Do you, by any chance, feel like you were in a tournament?

Sagittarius sees things from a higher level, (s)he likes exploring and for this reason, an Aries will always help him/her start wonderful things.

It's a kind of love at first sight in which two sparks meet and dream, in a second, of a completely different future.

There is a fascinating energy here that could take you out of time and could lead you to a special incandescence, emotionally or mentally - not as overwhelming as a Leo's, but explosive enough, tending to burn down very quickly though!

So be careful about this Fire that could make everything burn in a minute if it is not properly directed!

We can talk about the ideal combination because both Sagittarius and Aries are spontaneous, extrovert people. They are even at risk of manifesting too "passionately" at the same time. If this aspect is taken into consideration, controlled and put behind, the love they share has the chance (Jupiter) of changing them (Mars) very deeply.

Sagittarius doesn't like long term arrangements though, and Aries can't accept being somewhere else than in the centre of the other's affection or life.

The focus on the importance of one's own person can take Sagittarius and Aries in the middle of the arena, changing the relationship into an emotional competition, a dog eat dog one, the two becoming one single flame and ending the competition this way.

This is why it is better for Sagittarius and Aries to avoid the same place of work. The pleasure of being a couple can be altered by the desire for power at any time.

Sagittarius and Leo! The real power of Fire!

Hard to believe, but that's the way it is! Sagittarius wants to save everything, Leo wants to spend everything! Sagittarius always reflects him/herself, Leo always looks for everything for him/herself! Leo builds his/her own royalty, Sagittarius follows a metaphysical or spiritual royalty when (s)he crosses the barriers of a more elevated mental universe of Water signs (that are preoccupied with rather earthly issues).

If general aspects support their capacity of highlighting what they have best, the Sagittarius-Leo couple is most often a special, even excellent combination. They can symbolize the pure hedonist or the authentic athirst for lofty truths. They can wander happily at the weekend, as well as they can prefer the idyllic aspects of a romantic life.

The danger represented by a possible desire to have the leadership is easily counter-balanced if both Sagittarius and Leo appeal to their artistic nature - we know that Fire is the most creative element of all. Leo feels comfortable in the universe of visual arts, while Sagittarius has a lot to share in the musical field.

It's possible for the beginning to be more difficult, but that will help them offer each other what they have in plenty - Leo, an often tiresome authority, and Sagittarius, a sometimes exaggerated spirit of adventure.

This way, Sagittarius and Leo will love the life they will build together and they will come to a complete and deep understanding of their real nature.

Sagittarius and Libra: how much poetry and what a perspective!

How much love and romanticism, what a beautiful experience in the eyes of the world, lived voluptuously and with the conviction that, through them, the affective tragedy of the world will have a turning point and everybody will suddenly become noble and better!

Sagittarius and Libra can live exceptional love stories every minute and they can easily discuss about what is right and wrong in this life!

How much order they dream of bringing into the human condition and how much credit they take to themselves for the new aesthetic direction of the times they live!

Intellectual, charming and completely free of prejudices and restrictions, Sagittarius and Libra are secretly aspiring to a modern marital arrangement, with rights only and no restrictive obligations.

Their passion is temperate, good taste is always there, faithfulness is not of interest to them, and parties are often a great opportunity for both of them to shine in public, because Sagittarius and Libra know that people will talk about them for a long time, which they enjoy very much.

Sagittarius and Libra live life to the full, without the fierceness of cardinal signs and the attachment of fixed signs. They permanently feel like some characters in a novel or a television series.

Refined, poetic, philosophic, artistic, Sagittarius and Libra help each other and they successfully thrive together precisely because they are strange and they live this certainty with a wonderful feeling of naturalness.

Sagittarius and Aquarius: a quite interesting combination!

Sagittarius is interested in his/her personal freedom and in the permanent adventure of life; Aquarius is interested in the welfare of the human kind and in the freedom of the human being in general.

If Sagittarius and Aquarius meet on these positions, the planet and the human kind will have a safe future, because it will make both of them so fervent that few minds will have such moments of foreseeing and intellectual prophecy.

The erotic attraction between Sagittarius and Aquarius will stimulate them mentally first of all, and the major fuel of their relationship will be the great human causes or the future of mankind at a planetary scale. This is why talking about the relationship between a Sagittarius and an Aquarius is like reading an encyclopedia on the history of the world's evolution - you have to mention the aliens for it to be complete.

Provocative and interesting, sincere and communicative, Sagittarius and Aquarius make a dynamic, popular, inventive couple, of mutual cooperation and complementarity.

Each of them can support the other's evolution. Common interests and similar visions on love allow them to become a lasting couple, especially if there is a creative goal. This will be the "compass showing them the North", offering them a relationship based on a reassuring freedom.

Sagittarius and Gemini? Fire and Water?

Isn't it as the wind blows? Yes, it is! Isn't the Air the one keeping the fire burning? Doesn't the absence of Air put out any Fire? The whole thing is for a favorable wind to blow in the right direction so that the Fire continues to burn constantly and completely! Even if the Air is "the Little One" (Mercury) and the Fire "the Big One" (Jupiter).

Yes, a Sagittarius-Gemini relationship relies on words and mental complementary universes but, if you don't avoid shallowness (characteristic of the Gemini), you could become two completely parallel universes before you know it!

Fortunately, Sagittarius' burning nature can melt the informational coldness of the partner located on the other side of the zodiac, reminding Gemini that love must be "felt", not "rationalized".

On the other hand, there is much liveliness, optimism, exuberance, conversation and much, much freedom and cooperation here.

If there is something you, dear Sagittarius, don't like about your Gemini partner, ask yourself if that "something" isn't, by any chance, precisely the defect you haven't discovered about yourself yet. This is what love is for, to reflect ourselves in the other better. We must pay attention to this issue, because if we correct it for ourselves we will correct it for our beloved too.

Faithfulness is not the strength of this couple, although both Sagittarius and Gemini trust their "mind", as they are often lovers and not man and wife.

The main weakness regards two major differences: on one hand, Gemini is an intellectual while Sagittarius looks for a spiritual direction; on the other hand, Gemini tends to be somehow cynical, while Sagittarius suffers from a certain emotivity in love.

Sagittarius and Sagittarius: can two swords fit in the same scabbard?

They say that, in such cases, the two are too similar not to contradict and different enough not to get bored with each other.

The solution is for a more “earthly” Sagittarius (whose guiding quality is more developed) to find a more “metaphysical” Sagittarius (whose theoretical side is more active), so that the one capable of putting things into practice to be able to help the one able to think.

The practician Sagittarius will make life charming and the theoretician Sagittarius will give it meaning and direction.

One of them will like traveling on foot and the other will like discovering by means of his/her mind; one will travel “outside” and the other will travel “inside”; this way, the existential adventure will be complete and complex, both passionate and spiritual, and love will be a continuous mutual discovery, permanently adorned with “That’s how I feel, too” or “Don’t you think the same way, too?”.

Constantly exploring each other, aware of the fact that any human being requires patience to be discovered, the Sagittarius-Sagittarius couple can be one of the happiest if the common aspects help them turn the differences between them into affective and character complementarity.

Sagittarius and Taurus? Fire and Earth? My God, what an adventure and what luxury! On the other hand, what a change!

A Taurus native likes living in comfort, having all (s)he needs and enjoying life while a Sagittarius native likes taking risks to feel the excitement to the full.

It's true that Sagittarius would like moving around a little while Taurus would appreciate a cozy, protective place after wandering for a long time. Especially when she is a Sagittarius and he is a Taurus! A sort of long-distance faithfulness appears and, paradoxically, it always brings fresh air to the relationship.

If he is a Sagittarius and she is a Taurus, we can live story times around this couple, times in which the man was the explorer that left on a journey, like in a fairy tale of initiation, and the woman was a kind of "mater familiae", setting undying values during his absence.

Times change, though, and these two signs that seem not to have anything in common support each other very well. After all, they are governed by Venus and Jupiter! The former brings welfare (Venus in Taurus - the Great Mother Goddess), and the latter brings protection (Jupiter in Sagittarius - the spiritual guide and the therapist).

The solution is for Taurus to give up his/her possessive attachments and for Sagittarius to have a grain of measure regarding his/her own freedom, precisely in order to enjoy their passionate nature that knows no inhibitions. That makes both of them very creative and we'll often find this kind of combination in couples consisting of artists; but we can also find it in the world of bank business - hence, maybe, the tendency towards luxury and adventure. Artists remain more adventurous while bankers don't avoid any financial extravagancy.

Still, a Fire-Earth relationship is a deeply chemic one, especially the one between a Sagittarius and a Taurus, when the Earth sign is Fixed (tending to accumulate), and the Fire sign is Mutable (tending to disperse, to eliminate any excess and stagnation).

In a pure and beautiful love, the Sagittarius-Taurus couple is capable of separating the subtle from the harsh and to give a special spiritual direction of their life together.

Sagittarius and Cancer? Fire and Water?

Aren't you, dear Sagittarius, suffering from affective generosity by any chance? It would be good if you wondered sometimes, in order to avoid sufferance caused by strong emotions. The Sagittarius-Cancer couple can make some sentimental mistakes precisely due to the profound love they are capable of. This is why their common lesson is the sense of measure.

Because Cancer is extremely sensitive and sympathetic, and Sagittarius is extremely overwhelming and protective, they often end up sparing each other of the possible sufferings, convinced that this way they avoid hurting their feelings.

For example, neither of them dares say what (s)he doesn't like about the other one directly - because Cancer is afraid of being abandoned, and Sagittarius is not concerned with the question of truth when loving. That's why we can never know what is going to happen to the Sagittarius-Cancer couple.

Sagittarius and Cancer can both dream of the same trips or the same traditional family lifestyle. Or they can be both disappointed because Sagittarius thinks (s)he is protecting a fragile human being - which Cancer is not - and Cancer thinks (s)he is protecting a Sagittarius that can prove to be a family man/woman - which is very seldom possible.

Cancer and Sagittarius are both governed by Jupiter and that means Fire and Water can mix in such a way that Fire keeps burning and Water doesn't evaporate - because both signs have a very important "nurturing" function for the others: Cancer nurtures the soul by his/her deeply maternal and careful nature, governed by Jupiter; therefore, we can talk about affective generosity, as any form of nurturing is endowed with the miraculous energy of love.

In conclusion, Sagittarius and Cancer can move on from the fascinating erotic attraction of the beginning to beatitude, avoiding the lunar emotional depressions or Jupiter's egocentrism.

Sagittarius and Scorpio? The abyss of passion or the intensity of sublimation?

Don't you find it extremely exciting for a Mars sign and a Jupiter one to enter the game of love?

Sagittarius likes feeling safe and as hidden as possible in order to live the affective and erotic union with extreme voluptuousness. (S)He aspires either to become dependent on the person (s)he loves through possessive attachment or to sublimate his/her harsh side in an elevated and sublime relationship.

Scorpio likes reaching the peaks of light and spirit, whether to reflect a hypostasis of Heaven through love, or to enjoy, in his/her well-known selfishness, an overwhelming fulfillment.

There are, therefore, two "neighbors" - a metaphysical and a mystic one - on the same peak: blind union of passions or their spiritual release through the transcendence of the human being's primitive nature.

The Sagittarius-Scorpio relationship requires a permanent adaptation from both of them, because both signs are deeply passionate.

Scorpio, with his/her moral strength, can offer support to an emotional Sagittarius anytime, and Sagittarius can take a claustrophobic Scorpio beyond the amazing limit of the Sky by means of love.

Sagittarius and Capricorn. Very different and still very similar!

Do you find such a couple weird? Do you think it's impossible for an eternal fire of great human affective values to burn on the high Olympus?

Think of the equilibrium a mature and responsible Capricorn can offer a Sagittarius, and of the joy and optimism a warm, brave and lively Sagittarius can bring to a Capricorn!

What a special sense of measure appears when the principle of expansion (Jupiter) meets the principle of contradiction (Saturn)! What a sense of humor a Capricorn can prove and how temperate the adventurer Sagittarius can become!

How easily Capricorn can conquer heights when (s)he falls in love and how happily the explorer of the crests, Sagittarius, can take an underground trip!

As a matter of fact, both Capricorn and Sagittarius are signs of teachers and prophets.

Their world is always wonderful, on the condition that they don't stumble at their own importance. Tenderness, sensitiveness, unconditional commitment are as many chances for Capricorn and Sagittarius to get over their pride and career ambitions that have nothing in common with a mature and beautiful love.

Sagittarius and Virgo! Two signs that can heal each other!

A very interesting, exciting but risky combination. Fire can burn away the drainage of the Earth and Earth can diminish the flames of a possible Fire. Both Sagittarius and Virgo are mental signs in the true sense of the word and they also have a common tendency towards the religious aspects of life.

But Virgo can often suffer because of Sagittarius' lack of responsibility when it comes to lasting feelings while Sagittarius can hardly stand Virgo's spirit of sacrifice and unconditioned commitment to sometimes lost causes.

Sagittarius sees things from his/her Olympian height while Virgo suffers because of the misery of life right from its roots. Sagittarius is a well-known extravagant, and Virgo is economical and tidy.

Do you think a Sagittarius-Virgo couple has chances to succeed?

It surely has, because they both dream of a much better human cause secretly: Virgo wants everybody to be equal professionally and materially, and Sagittarius wants a forgiving and unique God for all, whose missionary (s)he would be forever.

Starting from the cause of human condition, Sagittarius automatically feels (s)he owes some protection to the worried Virgo that sincerely adores his/her optimism.

Conversation is their remedy par excellence: endowed with the ability of being "heart doctors" that heal by words, conversation proves to be useful for themselves first of all, and for the others only afterwards.

Sagittarius and Pisces? Compassion or boldness?

Well, you should know that there is love out of compassion, and this is only because Pisces' great and sensitive heart is ready to sacrifice for the happiness of a Sagittarius that aspires to discovering the fundamental truths of the human existence.

This is what Pisces dreams of: for someone to find some help in the sacrifice (s)he is willing to make for a great love, because this is his/her nature, to bring the other one to an equal level and then hug him/her along with the cause that (s)he is embracing.

How can a Sagittarius not like the fact that someone "burns" for the same purpose? How can a Sagittarius not like the fact that someone is at his/her feet?

Indeed, the mysterious Pisces would be happy if the metaphysical Sagittarius were interested in his/her "sufferings", but (s)he can live without it, too... Especially if it's up to him/her that the relationship goes on, instead of coming to an end.

It's true that, for a Sagittarius, it's a courageous deed to start a relationship with a Pisces native. What's the problem, can't (s)he sacrifice him/herself a little too? Isn't it an equally pleasant adventure like all the others? After all, whom else can (s)he discover God along with, if not a Neptune-ruled native?

The Pisces' compassion and mystery can "feed" Sagittarius' inspiration and boldness for a long time and this way the latter will feel fulfilled from all points of view, having found the emotional peace and erotic satisfaction that (s)he has been looking for.

Quotes from Famous Sagittarians:

“Why not seize the pleasure at once?”

-- Jane Austen (Sun, and Mercury in Sagittarius)

“...but a sanguine temper, for ever expecting more good than occurs, does not always pay for its hopes by any proportion of depression. It soon flies over the present failure, and begins to hope again.”

-- Jane Austen (Sun, and Mercury in Sagittarius)

“Music is the mediator between the spiritual and the sensual life.”

-- Ludwig van Beethoven (Sun, Moon, and Mercury in Sagittarius)

“Music: The one incorporeal entrance into the higher world of knowledge which comprehends mankind but which mankind cannot comprehend.”

-- Ludwig van Beethoven (Sun, Moon, and Mercury in Sagittarius)

“When in doubt, tell the truth.”

-- Mark Twain (Sun, Venus, and Mars in Sagittarius)

“There comes a time in every rightly constructed boy's life that he has a raging desire to go somewhere and dig for hidden treasure.”

-- Mark Twain (Sun, Venus, and Mars in Sagittarius)
